“It was the best of times, it was the worst of times”, so does Charles Dickens begin his epoch making novel A Tale of Two Cities commenting on the historical milieu of the French revolution. The historical context that this novel talks about was one which was marked by struggle, pain and radical transition in both the French society and worldwide. Covid-19 also brings all of us into such a situation of change, struggle, pain and transition into a new order of things. Education was one area of activity which was badly affected by the pandemic, but modern technology and gadgets made it possible to carry on the teaching, learning activities through online modes. Technology and internet kept our students actively involved in the learning process through online classes, webinars, workshops and certificate courses which united the students with their own teachers and other academicians and experts all over the world.

Let us think positive in this situation and seek to bring the best out of it by employing all the possibilities of our new technological era. We have to address new challenges like the digital divide and seek solutions to bridge such gaps. New challenges brings with it new possibilities. Hence we should focus on reaping the benefits of such possibilities rather than lamenting over the negatives of the current situation.

I am happy to learn that St. George's College has done a great job in exposing its students to very best academic experience through online modes. In retrospect, the bygone year was replete with online academic activities so much so that, we can rightly claim to have successfully confronted the perils of the pandemic, as effectively as possible. So we can surely do better in the coming year working on the past years' experience. I am happy to congratulate all the Teaching and non-Teaching staff of the college who worked hard to keep the College alive in these difficult times. May God Almighty bless you all!

MESSAGE

It is indeed a matter of great happiness for me to know that St. George's College Aruvithura has gone far enough this year in imparting quality education and care to its students. It makes me proud as well, to learn that this happened in a situation of great stress and pain in the midst of the current global pandemic. The college used the possibilities of modern technology for achieving this end. The year that has gone by witnessed a spate of online programs, in addition to routine classes, like webinars, workshops, certificate courses etc. It helped the students to get connected with not just their teachers but also great minds from all over the world.

Albert Einstein once said, "The measure of intelligence is the ability to change". The current global situation demands a paradigmatic shift in the way we live, interact and learn. So the success of any society lies in adapting to new situations. So we also must change. St. George's College has put this principle into practice which is discernable in the activities it has performed in the last year.

I would like to congratulate the Management, Principal and the entire staff of the college in making this institution active during the pandemic period by the academic programmes operated through online modes.

May God bless you all!

Manager's MESSAGE

Who is Afraid of COVID-19?

“Why did not anyone tell me about St. George’s College Aruvithura?” was my first thought when I first met the teaching and non- teaching staff of this prestigious college in March 2019. I felt both exhilarated and abashed when I had a chance to have a close encounter with the Teachers of St.George. They surprised me with their rustic simplicity, disarming openness, and startlingly striking humanness. I was amazed to see that such beauty and wisdom encompass this Georgian campus. Everywhere, in many academies, there is the constant compulsion to seek the novel and the trendy and that have ended up in producing “Fast Food” Degrees and quick fixed scholars. But Georgian is like a slow-cooked meal by parsing the fast foods of pop academic excellence and allowing everyone to taste and savour at the gourmet table of time transcending wisdom.

“Why St. George is so attractive for her students?”was my next question when I met the students of St. George for the first time. The only possible answer is that St. George’s college provides a congenial atmosphere for high intellectual pursuits along with unforgettable peaceful experiences. Our Students are made to become real masters of ingenuity and insight. The real-life experiences the teachers recount, enable everyone to go and grow beyond the dynamics of human development to the farthest reaches of on-going in-depth intellectual formation.

Covid – 19 offered a world of golden opportunities on our campus. The College expanded its boundaries to as far west as Michigan Lake and as far East as Kuwait and far South as Sydney, and as far north as Vancouver. We have proved that the real limit of our power is limitlessness. May their rays of the sun never set on this treasure house of congenial wisdom. St. George College is not afraid of Covid-19.

Manager

Principal's MESSAGE

The year 2020 has thrown a curveball worldwide with the coronavirus pandemic and the subsequent lockdown. Everything has gone off-script, and the whole world has stood perplexed at this Once-in-a-Century Pandemic. The strange and startling similarities between the Great Plague and COVID-19 have sent shockwaves around the world. Many fear that the horrifying and noxious narratives of epidemics in the past are becoming true. Resultantly, many changes have been introduced in the society and many terms like “Lockdown,” “social distancing,” “quarantine,” “containment zone” have become the much-accustomed terms of our daily lives. The State and Central Governments in India have been struggling tremendously to endorse their constitutional responsibility of public health management. Moreover, the police force has been given extensive powers to impose social codes to reduce the spread. Rules and restrictions imposed on the normal life of citizens resemble an Emergency or a military rule. New laws and severe punishments have ended the normality of social life and relationships, which eventually have forced people to cope with the new stay-at-home culture.

The academic community is also not free from troubles and afflictions and it experiences the most severe education disruption in history. The pandemic has brought learning to a screeching halt worldwide. But by the end of May 2020, Government and Universities have come up with many new initiatives and guidelines for avoiding a zero academic year. Classes through various online platforms like Google meet, G-suite, Zoom have been widely promoted and its possibilities have been made accessible to all students. St. George's College also has created digital replicas of the traditional classroom in tune with the changing scenario. All the faculty members arrived at the institution on the commencement day itself, and prior to that, the college and its premises have been cleaned and disinfected thoroughly. A committee has been constituted under the guidance of Dr. Siby Joseph, a senior faculty of the college, to ensure the smooth conduct of the classes through digital platforms. Besides, numerous webinars have been organized under the leadership of Dr. Jilu Ani John, the IQAC Coordinator, to enrich both the teacher and student community.

The pandemic has dramatically pushed the world to reinvent ways of coping with the 'new normal'. On first June itself, regular classes started virtually for the second and third year students. It is heartening to note that the faculty and the students have responded superlatively to the adversities caused by the pandemic. Undoubtedly, the online platforms have provided absolutely a different experience to teachers, students, and parents. Moreover, the virtual interactions with the nationally and internationally known personalities through webinars help to tap the vast treasure trove of information.

I thankfully acknowledge the initiatives taken by the Management for meeting the challenges triggered by the crisis, especially for ensuring accessibility to smartphones and the internet. The college could supply free smartphones to all the deprived students. Apart from that, when all the academic activities have halted in all other educational institutions, St. George's College Aruvithura has come up with several unique programmes. We could blaze a trail, and many neighbouring colleges are inspired into action following our suit. It is gratifying to note that SGCians have celebrated Onam and Christmas digitally despite the complexities of the times. Therefore this Pandemic Calendar is chronicled for the generations to come, as a record of our survival mantra during the pandemic season.

Human history has survived many moments of crisis and natural calamities. Even though the fear and apprehension of the pandemic still linger in us, we do hope that things will be back to normal soon and we will be at a campus teemed with students. These are testing times, still we have many reasons to remain grateful. I would like to place on record my sincere appreciation and gratitude to V. Rev. Dr. Augustine Palackaparambil, our beloved Manager, who leads our institution with great vision; Rev. George Pullukalayil, College Bursar and course coordinator of Self-Finance stream who serves this institution in good spirits; all the teaching and non-teaching staff, students, and parents. Thank you.

Dr. Reji Vargheese Mekkaden
Principal

Bursar's MESSAGE

“April is the cruellest month.” This opening line of T.S Eliot’s famous modernist poem “The Waste Land” has shockingly come true in the form of Covid-19. The pandemic wreaked havoc in Europe and America in April 2020. Now in April 2021, it is on a deadly rampage in India. People are panic-stricken, frustrated, and disillusioned. The death toll is exponentially spiking up. The scary photographs of the burial of the dead, being circulated through Social Media, send a shiver down our spine.

This has been a difficult time for St. George’s College as well. But we could successfully overcome the impediments and limitations caused by the pandemic with the help and support of our teachers, administrative staff, and well-wishers. Though students were not physically present on the campus, we continued to hold classes and interactive sessions online and remained close-knit as before. Our teachers innovatively explored the online platforms to their optimum by conducting interactive classes, webinars, workshops, certificate courses, etc. The college invited national and international figures from different walks of life and opened new avenues to our students.

My gratitude and love for all those who helped us at this time of crisis are beyond words. I take this opportunity to thank and appreciate all of them, especially our teachers, for their innovative and enterprising approach to learning.

I am also proud of our non-teaching staff, who rendered a yeomen service for the smooth functioning of the college. Without them, we could not have overcome this crisis.

Dear all, this too shall pass. May God bless us all!

Rev. Fr. George Pullukalayil

Bursar & Course Co-ordinator, Self Finance Programmes

Survival and fortitude are the hallmarks of human progress. As Covid-19 tears its way from countries to countries, the “never say die” human spirit persuades man to live with the pandemic. But it has changed the very fibre of our daily lives, and the most significantly affected is the academics and teaching and learning modalities. To restrain the spread of the corona virus, our institution like any other institution of its kind has been compelled to shut down, and the students have been forced to remain in their own homes. To overcome this predicament, virtual classrooms have been set up with the help of technology. We have been able to overcome this crisis to an extent through online tools like Google Classrooms, which demands a new gamut of technicalities. St. George’s College Aruvithura could overcome all the hurdles of these times under the able stewardship of our principal Dr. Reji Vargheese Mekkaden.

As the pandemic causes long-term disruption to the education system, students are at elevated risk for mental health problems. It becomes a matter of concern for the authorities that online education obviously leaves blemishes in the emotional realms of the youth. The college attempts to resolve these challenges through a host of carefully chosen innovative online programmes. This pandemic calendar which tracks the successful journey of St. George’s College during this pandemic bears testimony to this.

Dr. SIBY JOSEPH
Staff Secretary

The academic year 2020-21 has not been a year of gloom and doom for SGCians. It has triggered a cadre of opportunities. Undoubtedly this year will be marked in the annals of this college as a year of golden opportunities. St. George’s College has presented students with a year of memorable experiences, which is at par with any other academic year or even much better. This covid calendar is truly a pen portrait of our college in corona times.

DR. JILU ANI JOHN
IQAC Co-ordinator

The unprecedented historical reality of covid-19 has brought in a complete overhaul in all the aspects of human life. The close-knit academic community of SGC was also not unaffected by the pandemic, and the portals of SGC also were closed down for a while. The campus, which was teeming with life and intellectual inquiries, gave way to a desolate space. However, SGC, the much happening space, was soon back into action, exuberantly reinventing ways of coping with the 'new normal,' never compromising on quality. The Internal Quality Assurance Cell of the college was only happy to take the lead, under the gentle instructions of the Manager, Principal, and the Bursar and Course Coordinator. The campus community of SGC soon joined the long-overdue revolution in global academics by going digital and developing robust digital platforms. Just one month into lock-down and social distancing, the campus community met virtually from the locked interiors of their homes for the first webinar, the first of its kind from this part of the state. This quick-started a flood of academic deliberations, and the virtual spaces resonated with substantial, quality voices from across the globe. The digital divide was the most vexing issue encountered by the student community, and the Management reacted proactively to the student needs, offering mobile phones to the needy ones. Another pressing concern was addressing the new psychological stressors among students accentuated by constraints on physical movement and social activities. The psychosomatic wellness of the faculty and students was taken good care of, and Joydemic, the virtual cultural fiesta, became the happiness mantra of the campus.

The history of all great centres of learning is a tale of resistance, adaptation, quality maintenance, and survival. The bug days too shall pass, and together, SGC shall stand all tests of time, and the Georgian saga will continue to be sung by generations.

PRAYER

Lord, Almighty God,
 Source of light, truth, and eternal goodness,
 Transform this present moment
 into an hour of vision and inspiration.
 Help me to find wisdom;
 Shed light on my thoughts.
 May my aspirations come true
 through righteous and good deeds.
 Give me the strength to concentrate,
 to think objectively,
 and to see clearly.
 Shed your light on me so that I may see
 which decision to make.
 Help me, O my Eternal God,
 to avoid vanity and pride,
 and thus be able to make worthy decisions
 as a true child of yours.

Lead, Kindly Light, amidst th'encircling gloom,
 Lead Thou me on!
 The night is dark, and I am far from home,
 Lead Thou me on!
 Keep Thou my feet; I do not ask to see
 The distant scene; one step enough for me.

 I was not ever thus, nor prayed that Thou Shouldst lead me on;
 I loved to choose and see my path; but now
 Lead Thou me on!
 I loved the garish day, and, spite of fears,
 Pride ruled my will. Remember not past years!
